Patton's Tanks Gain Five Miles In Advance On Trier

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

LITTLE Joe Goebbels, Herr Hitler's bull-voiced propaganda minister, has been complaining that the Allies have ganged up on the Reich, and says Germany could win hands down if it could take on its enemies singly.

The last time I saw Joe he was spell-binding 50,000 people in an outdoor meeting in Berlin, just before Munich. I wasn't much impressed with his line of double-talk at the time—though he put on a good show—but it must be admitted he has something now. The Allies not only have ganged, but as I see it they're giving a remarkable display of military unity.

Allied activities on both eastern and western fronts point to early intensification of the big squeeze on Hitlerdom. One of the most satisfactory aspects of this is that it represents a full partnership and concerted action. The Big Three are going in for the kill together.

Now barring a great emergency the Western Allies wouldn't be attempting an all-out offensive at this time. As I pointed out yesterday, this is the season when the Rhineland weather is at its worst—and that's mighty bad. The vital work of the tactical air-force frequently is suspended for days because of dense fog or rain—it is largely halted today, for instance. The terrain either is a sea of mud or is under water. The Allied troops—Canadians, killed Scotsmen, Britons, French, Yanks—have had to fight in mud and water to their waists at times, and actually have had to use amphibious equipment in some places which normally are high and dry.

Despite all this Gen. Eisenhower has kept on attacking and improving his positions in preparation for the big push, instead of waiting for decent weather with the beginning of April, only a few weeks away. The full weight of our armies is needed on the Western front to complement the Red drive.

I said yesterday that progress depended heavily on the weather, and since then we've had the good news that the flooded Ruhr river—last natural barrier between the Allies and the Cologne plain—is receding, and the Roer was sent tumbling high out of its banks some days ago when the Germans loosed a great volume of water from huge reservoirs in order to stymie the Allies.

They say a few days are likely to see the Roer fairly normal again, and then Gen. Ike may send his men across in the Deuren sector and start his drive onto the Cologne plain towards the Rhine. Meanwhile Field Marshal Montgomery's forces in the north, and Patton's American Third army in the south, are continuing to turn the German flanks, thus creating a great claw which is calculated to squeeze Nazi Marshal Von Rundstedt's armies out onto the open Cologne plain where Allied armor can destroy them.

However, Rundstedt may try to withdraw across the Rhine rather than make a stand on the Cologne plain. Crossing a great river in retreat, with the enemy in pursuit, always is a most hazardous operation. It would be a massacre if the weather permitted our air forces to operate.

U. S. Casualties Higher On Iwo Than At Tarawa

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Marine casualties in the first 48 hours of the Iwo Jima assault were heavier than those on bloody Tarawa in the 76 hours required to take that Pacific bastion.

A Pacific fleet headquarters communique today placed the first Iwo losses at 3,650 men and officers, although of that number 3,063 were wounded and evacuated.

An Tarawa in late November, 1,437, 988 men were killed and 2,163 wounded.

Two Marine divisions made the Iwo attack, against one division at Tarawa.

BUS STRIKES HIT 3 CITIES

Liverpool, Steubenville and Portsmouth Are Affected By Tieup

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 21.—Munitions making slowed to half speed or less in a 60-mile belt of Ohio and Pennsylvania communities today, as 130 Ohio Valley Motor Transit Co. drivers left their jobs in a strike which a union spokesman said was caused by a breakdown of contract negotiations.

Bernard Lippert, local president of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, declared the walkout began last night and was "due to the fact that the parties concerned can't agree on a satisfactory settlement."

H. R. Frederick, transit general manager, said in a statement at his East Liverpool office that the strike came as a complete surprise to me, and added the men protested delay by the War Labor board in settling disputes referred to the board.

Mayor George Floto of Steubenville addressed a union meeting here early today, and urged immediate resumption of work "to safeguard our war production program." East Liverpool's Mayor Arnold Devo also urged the drivers to return to their jobs.

Six potteries in the East Liverpool area, normally employing about 7,800 persons, had only about 25 percent of that number on the job, company representatives said, as the bus strike left workers without transportation.

At Midland, Pa., the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co.'s shell plant was reduced to about half production. Steubenville schools were ordered closed "for the duration of the strike" by School Superintendent Charles B. Fox.

Lippert said negotiations on a contract had been under way since last April, when the last contract expired. Issues, he said, included a general increase from the wage scale of 71 to 84 cents hourly, overtime for all work over 48 hours instead of 51 1/2 hours as provided in the old contract, and other conditions.

The transit system was paralyzed at East Liverpool by a walk-out last July, but the strike was Turn to BUS STRIKE, Page 8

Parents Are 'Pupils' During Special High School PTA Program

Salem High school Parent-Teacher association members became "students" last night at their meeting in the High school when parents went through the morning schedule followed by their sons and daughters. Faculty members conducted typical class sessions for the parents.

The program, arranged by Principal Benson O. Ludwig, afforded an opportunity for teachers and parents to discuss problems of individual young people, and for parents to learn of the complete and efficient educational program offered in the school despite inroads of war industries and Selective Service on staff and facilities.

The resignation of Mrs. Theodore Jewell as secretary was accepted. Mrs. Frances Dales was named to complete the term.

Lunch was served in the dining hall by Mrs. Walter Strain and a group of domestic science students.

The March 13 program will be in charge of Principal Ludwig who will answer questions turned in by parents last night on the conduct of the school. Questions to be answered at that time may also be mailed before March 1 to Mrs. Albert Kaufman, program chairman, on Park drive.

Cancel Teachers Meeting

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 21.—The spring meeting of the Northeast Ohio Teachers' association, scheduled for April 13 at Wooster, has been cancelled because of travel restrictions, Robert L. Fleming of Youngstown, executive secretary, said today.

MOTORIST DIES IN COLLISION

Cleveland Merchant Killed When Car Hits Truck On Route 14

Charles Papp, 52, a Cleveland secondhand merchant, died at 3 p. m. yesterday at Salem City hospital as a result of a fractured skull received when his car skidded into the path of a truck on Route 14, just north of North Benton, two hours earlier.

The truck, driven by David Carnahan, 43, of R. D. 4, Alliance, struck the car head-on, demolishing it. Carnahan was uninjured.

State patrolmen said Papp's car had evidently swerved out of control as he approached the truck, which was going north.

Identified by his driver's license and other papers in a wallet, Papp's family in Cleveland had not been located early this afternoon. He never regained consciousness following the accident and died shortly after admission to the hospital.

Slippery roads caused an odd accident on Route 14 at midnight last night.

William Cain, Jr., 24, of R. D. 3, Salem, was driving his car north on the Benton road when he skidded and ended up lengthwise across the road in the railroad underpass, three miles from the city limits.

As Cain was attempting to get the car headed in the proper direction again, a truck, driven by James Zak, 34, of Cleveland, came into the underpass, and struck it broadside.

Neither driver was injured, but the car and truck were damaged considerably.

Salvation Army Cadets To Meet Here Thursday

Approximately 150 delegates will attend two council sessions of corps cadets of the northeastern Ohio division of the Salvation Army at the local city hall Thursday.

Five Charter Members Attend Quota Club's Dinner Party

Five charter members of the Salem Quota club were present at the dinner held last night in the Memorial building, celebrating the 20th anniversary of the local club and the 25 years of the international group.

Misses Ella and Zillah Stamp, Agnes Wilson, Lillie Curtis and Clara Finney were the charter members honored. Others not present were Misses Eva Simpson, Blanche Kyle and Louise Goshen.

Miss Elsie Thomas, president of the club, welcomed members and guests and gave a brief outline of the five-point program of Quota.

A history of Quota, including the 25 years of the international organization and the 20 years of activities for the local club, was presented by Miss Ella Stamp.

Recognition was made of a recent gift of $100 to the educational fund by Mrs. S. A. Bass.

Entertainment featured a review of the humorous book "The Education of Hyman Kaplan" by Ross, given by Mrs. S. F. Sondecke. Musical numbers included: Vocal, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" (Tate), "Gray Days" (Johnson) and "De Las' Long Res" (Bond-Dunbar), Mrs. Vesta King, accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Dyball; vocal, "Hi Quota," "Peggy O'Neil" and "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," John Coleman quartet.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Rinie Wark. Mrs. George McKee and Miss Curtis.

Tables for the dinner, arranged by Mrs. Ray Kenneigh and Miss Nora Greenwalt, were beautifully decorated with a large yellow and white cake with green candles, arrangements of iris and daffodils and green and yellow tapers. Yellow-covered pots of ivy were favors.

Places were set for 61 members and guests. Birthday cakes were made by Mrs. Elizabeth Baker.

LIEUTENANT BAUER MISSING IN INDIA

Lieut. Clyde Bauer, former resident of Greenford and nephew of Frank Dinsmore of that village, has been missing in action in Burma since Feb. 1, his wife, the former Virginia Sudd of Youngstown, has been advised.

Lieut. Bauer, a navigator-bombardier, went overseas Dec. 1 and had completed nine missions.

After graduating from Columbus High school and Capital University, Columbus, he enlisted in the Marines, serving as a second lieutenant for more than six months. He was discharged in December, 1942, and a month later enlisted in the Air Corps. He received his wings and commission at Selman field, La., a year ago.

Before going abroad Lieut. Bauer served as instructor at Carlisle and Roswell fields in New Mexico.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauer of Youngstown. They formerly resided in Greenford, where Lieut. Bauer spent the first 16 years of his life.

CHARLES FISHER KILLED IN ACTION

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher of Youngstown have been advised that their son, Pvt. W. Ralph Fisher, 20, was killed in action in Belgium Dec. 17. Previously he had been reported as missing.

Pvt. Fisher was a grandson of the late William D. Smith of Salem, his mother, Grace Elizabeth Smith Fisher, having been born and reared in Salem. His uncle, Ralph P. Smith of Boardman, also is a former Salem resident.

Pvt. Fisher was born Dec. 3, 1924, in Youngstown. He was in his last year at Woodrow Wilson High school when he was inducted June 17, 1943. He went overseas last August with an infantry unit and after a few days in England was transferred to France.

3,650 Marines Are Casualties First 2 Days

By AL DOPKING

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 21.—Approximately 3,650 Marines were killed or wounded in the first 48 hours of the battle for Iwo Jima, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today as he reported the Leathernecks made general advances ranging up to 1,000 yards on the island's central airfield.

Nimitz listed approximately 3,500 enlisted men and 150 officers as casualties—killed, wounded and missing. He said 3,063 of the wounded had been evacuated, indicating about 600 were killed or missing.

There was no estimate of Japanese losses.

Tank-led Marines, holding firm control of more than a third of the island, began an enveloping drive against the fighter field, known as Motoyama No. 2. The Fifth Marine division by-passed the southern tip of the field in a flanking move, preparatory to striking it from the west, while the Fourth division pushed directly toward the center of the airfield.

OPA Tightens Sack For Canning Sugar

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The OPA pulled the draw string on the sugar sack even tighter today with a cut in allotments for home canning.

For the 1945 canning season housewives will be able to obtain a maximum of 20 pounds for each member of the family up to eight instead of last year's 25 pounds with no limit on the number receiving an allowance.

All allotments must be obtained from local rationing boards.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles called the 1944 program "too easy," saying it resulted in an overdraw of the 700,000-ton allotment for home canning by 300,000 tons.

This year 700,000 tons of sugar will be available for home canning. Bowles said that sugar stocks for this time of the year are the lowest since the war began.

OPA district will announce when issuance of coupons for 1945 canning sugar will begin and end in each area. No applications will be accepted after Oct. 31.

Pvt. Manning of Rogers Freed in Philippines

LISBON, Feb. 21.—Pvt. Oscar Manning, 26, who was captured by the Japanese three years ago when Corregidor fell, has been liberated by the invading American army, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Manning of Rogers, were advised yesterday.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Manning and has been in the army nine years.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 21.—Approximately 3,650 Marines were killed or wounded in the first 48 hours of the battle for Iwo Jima, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today as he reported the Leathernecks made general advances ranging up to 1,000 yards on the island's central airfield.

Nimitz listed approximately 3,500 enlisted men and 150 officers as casualties—killed, wounded and missing. He said 3,063 of the wounded have been evacuated, indicating about 600 were killed or missing.

There was no estimate of Japanese losses.

Tank-led Marines, holding firm control of more than a third of the island, began an enveloping drive against the fighter field, known as Motoyama No. 2. The Fifth Marine division by-passed the southern tip of the field in a flanking move, preparatory to striking at it from the west, while the Fourth division pushed directly toward the center of the airfield.

OPA Tightens Sack For Canning Sugar

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The OPA pulled the draw string on the sugar sack even tighter today with a cut in allotments for home canning.

For the 1945 canning season housewives will be able to obtain a maximum of 20 pounds for each member of the family up to eight instead of last year's 25 pounds with no limit on the number receiving an allowance.

All allotments must be obtained from local rationing boards.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles called the 1944 program "too easy," saying it resulted in an overdraw of the 700,000-ton allotment for home canning of 300,000 tons.

This year 700,000 tons of sugar will be available for home canning. Bowles said that sugar stocks for this time of the year are the lowest since the war began.

OPA district will announce when issuance of coupons for 1945 canning sugar will begin and end in each area. No applications will be accepted after Oct. 31.

Immediate Necessities In Treating Cuts, Wounds

In minor cuts and wounds, the first important thing is to get the wound as clean and as free from germs as is possible. There is some difference of opinion as to how this may be done. Some physicians favor cleaning the wound by washing it under running water, or by encouraging bleeding for a time. Others say that the best thing is to suggest the immediate application of a suitable antiseptic, such as weak iodine solution. Some may employ hydrogen peroxide because, by frothing, it acts as a cleanser. Either is used, but it is painful.

If there is a great deal of danger from infection due to contamination, it may be advisable to apply a solution of a suitable antiseptic in form of a salve. It is not, as a rule, advisable to sew a wound up tightly when sewing is required, since this may seal in germs, and produce

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

Aggie hurried along and, presently, he was in the main cellar. There he decided, the person who had set out the bottle would have his best chance—if, indeed, that person had any idea of attacking him. Aggie crouched low and moved among bulky, invisible objects toward the stairs. He hit something and felt it yield and fall away. The feeling was followed by a crash. He had tipped over a wheelbarrow loaded with broken flowerpots. He swore and recklessly switched on his light from behind a pillar. He shot a round the vast, crowded, dusty furnace room. Nothing there. He kept it on and raced toward the steps, past the furnace. He had nearly gained his objective when he stepped. His light held on the ash-strewn floor for an instant. A bone—a real bone—lay in the dust. A bone gnawed bare—or boiled bare—he did not have time to determine. The cellar lights flashed on and a voice at the head of the stairs called, "Who's that?"

"Me! Aggie!" He felt enormously relieved. "It's me, Jack!"

The manager of the club was standing at the head of the stairs with a revolver in his hand. He was wearing a dressing gown and bedroom slippers. He grinned faintly. "My God, Aggie," he said, "how do you get around? What in the world are you doing there?"

"Trying to get out," Aggie said honestly. "And somebody's in this hole—somewhere." He was running up the stairs. He pulled Jack into the pantry, slammed the door, and locked it. "That ought to hold him," he called down.

He broke off. In the club kitchen, staring at him, were several people. Beth and Martha and Bill Calder. Ralph Patton and Byron Waite. Most surprising, Wes Wickman, in his uniform, looking extraordinarily disheveled. There were grass stains on his hands and there was dirt on his shoes. He was breathing hard but unobtrusively, as if he had recently been engaged in some form of work, and as if he were trying to make that fact unnoticeable. Leaves of sliced bread, a leg of lamb, mustard pickles, were ranged on the center table.

Wes said, "Who's in the cellar, Aggie?"

"I don't know. I—"

Beth said, "You look as if you'd been pulled through a knothole! A filthy knothole. Walking in your sleep, I suppose?"

Wes leaned against a huge refrigerator. "Just what in the name of God does this mean, Aggie? You were first to find Calder. First to find George Davis. First to send out the alarm. And now—while I'm frantically at work over at the Davis place—I get a frenzied message from Sarah via old John saying to go save your life in the club cellar. What's there?"

"Somebody," Aggie answered. "Look! For heaven's sake—get your men and have that cellar searched." The state trooper considered. "All right."

Jack spoke. "There maybe was somebody down there, at that! Aggie—did you notice if the windows in the furnace room were open, when you went down?"

"No. They were not, that is."

"Open now. Two of 'em."

Aggie said, "I didn't notice that. Then—the persons gone. He looked from face to face. All the expressions were doubtful, accusatory. Even the trooper's. That increased his feeling of frustration and of defeat. He needed sleep. He was weak and nervous. He was sorry, too. "Hunk! Why ask me what I was doing here? What are all of you doing?"

Byron Waite said hastily, "I presume you expected me to go back to sleep after the racket you raised at my place? I went over to the Davis house. All the lights were on. I sat with the servants."

"We went there, too," Beth said. "We heard the sirens. Bill and Martha and I. As soon as we could dress. We left Martha's mother asleep—at least—she didn't get up when we did. Wes shook us away and so we all came up here."

"I was just getting up," Jack said. "They began banging on the door. Let me in. Nobody's going to sleep any more tonight—so we're making sandwiches. Heard a crash in the cellar. I got the club gun. The Lord knows we're all on edge!"

Wes said dryly, "I think, Aggie, that I ought to ask the questions. Don't you?"

Aggie was on the point of answering when the pantry door was shoved open. Several more people in various stages of dishabille tramped into the club kitchen. They were asking, "What's wrong?" and "What's happened at the Davises?" with the ad-libbed unanimity of a stage crowd. Aggie looked at them disgustedly.

"You go down to your house, Aggie," Wes said. "I'll come along as soon as I take a squirt in the cellar. Five minutes. I want to talk to you. I want to talk to you bad."

When Aggie re-entered his aunt's cottage—at a dogtrot—he saw that Danielle had gone. It gave him a brief sense of dissatisfaction. Sarah had a good fire going. There were sandwiches on the coffee table—and cups. The old lady was lying back in the inglenook, and she greeted him acidly. "You've been gone a thundering long while!"

"I had a lot of ground to cover."

"Well?"

Aggie knew what she meant. He sat down on a bench and leaned over the coffee container. "Gone," he said. "Nothing in the safe."

Sarah pursed her lips. A thin, pensive whistle came through them. "Gone, eh?"

"How much was it, Sarah?"

She shrugged. "The last statement showed—around a million."

"A tidy sum to carry off, huh?"

He dumped sugar directly from a bowl. "I wondered. You know, I forgot to ask. I generally forget all the important things. I wondered if we were talking about a hundred thousand—or some horrendous sum—like a hundred million."

"Nobody around her has that sort of mazuma," Sarah replied. "And that gold and my platinum wouldn't just be carried off—either. Weighed about—a ton, I should imagine."

Aggie thought a moment. "So it did! Hunk! Mean several trips. How was it—packed? Or was it?"

In sawdust in starch boxes, the starch boxes were in wine—four to a case. The whole thing was designed to weigh the same as a case of wine."

He sipped coffee. "I honestly think—at the moment—I'm Wes Wickman's principal suspect!"

"You!" Sarah leered. "And no wonder! Well, start talking!"

He told her. He told her sketchily, at first, and in detail, as Wes's "five minutes" became ten and then twenty and at last, half an hour. They waited, when he had finished talking, with an impatience that blotted out fatigue and sleepiness.

Wes appeared, at last. He looked grim. His face was even more dirty. "There was nobody in that cellar. One window had been scrambled over. I've hardly slept since Calder died. I was out last night on Bogarty leads. I went to bed this evening and I left word that I wasn't to be disturbed for anything. My lieutenant woke me when you called about Davis." He grinned shortly. "I'd have demoted him if he hadn't. Now, see here, Plum. You found the doctor. You broke in where he was. You've rummaged all the way to that safe in the club cellar—yeah!—that's where I've just been. You're going to have the devil's own time explaining your actions—and I wish you'd begin now."

Wes drank cup after cup of coffee. He did not once interrupt. He showed amazement at the story about the cache. He gazed at Sarah. He muttered when Aggie described the situation in which he had found Davis's body. But he did not talk.

After it was finished, he closed his eyes. "Aggie," he said at last. "I know darned well you're telling the truth. I'd have pushed along just about the same way you did. But you—and Sarah—realize that in the morning you're going to face a mob of reporters?"

"I've been thinking of it," Sarah said.

"They'll be all over the scene. Great story. A million in unlawful gold hidden away. Two peculiar deaths. A colorful prospector missing. It'll crowd Hitler off the front pages. This place will be crammed with sightseers. Reporters will be trying to beat us—the police—to an answer. What is the answer?"

Styled For Young Sports

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—Success formula for little boys' clothing are styles in which young sports can strut and strut and practical fabrics and colors which draw mothers to these fashions as unerringly as a compass pulls to a pole.

This is the success story behind a line recently launched for young Beau Brummels, aged 2½ to 10 years, which gives these forgotten little men of fashion styles exactly duplicating the sportswear that's favored by their leisure-loving dads.

What win whees from the boys are the man-tailoring and swaggy appeal of small-scaled jackets, leisure coats, slacks, shorts, Eton and Rugby suits. But what goes over bigger with mothers are the sturdy fabrics and dark colors which mean longer service by months before suits give in to hard wear and longer dages before they give in to soil which takes them to the dry-cleaner's or laundry.

Two new style favorites—one for chips (sized 4 to 12) and one for little twigs (sized 2 to 7) are shown. Designed for the older boy is the leisure jacket suit, left, which has checked tweed collar, revers and sleeves posed against a body of rayon cavalry twill, and slacks of the same monotone fabric in a choice of dark colors.

At the right, designed for the younger tot, is a Rugby suit of plaid wool which combines sporty jacket with man-tailored shorts.

12 Receive Second Citizenship Papers

LISBON, Feb. 21.—Twelve applicants for citizenship received their second papers Tuesday when they were examined by Thomas O'Donnell and his crew of federal examiners.

Romanians led the list with four applicants, followed by two English and one each of Polish, Czechoslovakian, Austrian, Italian, Yugoslavian and Canadian citizens. O'Donnell's group, aided by Ethel Swift and John McNicol of Clerk John Coleman's office, certified for final papers in not less than 30 days the following:

Susannah Bartsch, George Ludwig, Marie Hatzagen and Areta Fridon of Salem; Nathan Kornreich, George Bowyer and Edith Bowyer of East Liverpool; John Chan and Barbara Penick of Lisbon; Carl Worsen of East Palestine; Terzilia Plaut of Negley, and Arch Vaneas of Wellsville.

Twenty-four witnesses were called to vouch for the candidates, who will be notified when to appear for examination to secure final citizenship papers.

Sister, Brother Die In Mahoning River

WARREN, Feb. 21.—The body of three-year-old Shirley Ann Remalia, who drowned with her brother, Richard, two, while at play along the Mahoning river, was recovered today at a dam spillway. Children of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern R. Remalia, who disappeared at noon yesterday, were continued to drag the river for Richard's body. P. B. Frampton and Bob Knowlton, dam attendants, found Shirley Ann's body, her foot lodged in a spillway drain pipe about three-fourths mile from where she disappeared.

Mrs. Remalia said she had permitted them to go out to play in the snow with their dog but found only tracks leading to the river when she went out to look for them. The dog was found running frantically along the water's edge.

Words Can't Tell Desolation Of Battle-Scarred Normandy

Saint-Lo is today a forbidden city. Despite its utter and complete desolation, 4,500 former inhabitants have tried to come back to it. There are at least a million bombed-out people in Normandy alone.

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS—Six months ago the eyes of the world were focused on the smiling province of Normandy. Today what was once one of the richest regions of France agonizes under her ruins in the aftermath of war. In thousands of American homes the names of Saint-Lo, Carpentan, Isigny, Grandcamp, Coutances, Valognes and Avranches mean something more than place names of victories in the communiques. Priceless American lives were lost there, and they will live forever in American history.

For hundreds of thousands of French people these names spell utter distress and desolation. Roads, hacked through by giant bulldozers, straddle what were once houses. A few tracks of yellow mud, charred trees and heaps of rubble, are all that remains of what were once prosperous towns and smiling villages. Even the earth is dangerous.

The plains and fields, littered with the skeletons of tanks and tiny white crosses, are still full of mines. Every once in a while farmers are blown up with their plows. Whole families haunt the ruins of what they used to call their homes. They live like troglodytes, jealous of a piece of wall less damaged than others.

A woman who recently returned from Normandy told me the following story: "More fortunate than many, we were able to get back to our house which still has two habitable rooms. When and if my husband can find a tarpaulin to put over our beds, we will have nothing to fear from the rain. There is no gas, no electricity.

"Most people get what light they can with the wick of a lighter steeped in melted butter. We go to bed fully dressed, as the Germans took everything in the way of linen and blankets. All closets were broken into with pickaxes and most of us only possess the clothes we were able to take away with us. How long these will last is another question. And yet we are not among the most unfortunate."

Words cannot describe the desolation of towns like Caen and Saint-Lo. Coutances and a score of others. They are the most moving examples of the will to live in spite of the worst difficulties. Three-quarters of Caen are destroyed, yet 50,000 out of its 65,000 inhabitants have returned and live in the ruins. Out of the 15,000 houses in the town, 9,000 were entirely destroyed and every one of the 6,000 which remain standing is badly damaged.

KEEP OUT THE RAIN

People have only one idea: to find slates, tiles, iron, tarred cardboard, window glass to keep the rain out. A great number live higgledy-piggledy in their cellars—the sick, the old and children all huddled together. People with large families do not have enough clothes to go around. Scores of people are still sleeping in the crypt of the Abbaye-aux-Hommes, the centuries-old church which miraculously escaped damage from bombardment and artillery fire and where 9,000 inhabitants took refuge and escaped death.

As for Saint-Lo, through which thousands of our boys have passed, it is today a forbidden city. Yet despite its utter and complete desolation, 4,500 of its former 15,000 inhabitants have tried to come back to it. The town is off limits because bodies are still buried under the ruins, making sanitary conditions more than precarious. All drinking water is polluted, save that from one small spring.

It is estimated that there are at least one million bombed-out people in Normandy alone. Considering that the worst months of winter lie ahead of them, the outlook is as black as it could be. Headquarters of the Entente Aides Francaise (the French National Welfare organization) reports that since the end of June over 400 trucks carrying 250,000 tons of clothing have been dispatched to Normandy. But what are 86,000 pairs of shoes to a million people, who for the most part are still wearing the only pair of sandals they had last summer?

NEED MORE CLOTHES
What use are 1,200,000 separate garments when 600,000 men's suits and 800,000 complete outfits for women and children are needed? The organization's stocks are now exhausted and warehouses are empty. The organizers are in despair not only because today they can do so little for Normandy but because they will be unable to bring relief to Alsace and Lorraine when these provinces are liberated.

Yet in villages and towns alike life goes on. Fortunately food in Normandy is plentiful. There is plenty of meat, cheese and butter, but there is no soap. In Caen, restaurants serve good meals in improvised settings, and there is older and calveados to be obtained in the cafes. One or two cinemas have reopened and newspapers are being sold on street corners while clearance work continues and corpses are still being extracted from the ruins.

You hear little complaining in Normandy. The people know that were it not for the exigencies of war, Allied help in the form of transportation, bringing household effects, clothing and repair materials would have long since been given them.

So far they are thankful they have been spared the scourge of epidemic, although hospitals are windowless and unheated, and sick and wounded cannot leave because they are bereft of clothes. They hope assistance will come to them before it is too late. For hundreds of thousands of Normans this is a question of life or death.

SO THEY SAY

The fundamental problem of peace at present is simple: to remove the great fear of Germany which has haunted all of Europe for more than the last half century and to confine her into a position of inability to threaten or wage war. —Prof. Hans Kohn of Smith College.

At last Douglas MacArthur is in my grip. I have been chasing the enemy's commander all over the southern seas area and each time he has slipped away from me. This time it will be different and my pleasure of a face-to-face meeting will be realized. —Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on Luzon, in radio to Tokyo.

I remembered Mahatma Gandhi and his fasts. I thought, "Well, if the Mahatma, who does not weigh half what I weigh, can do without eating for days at a time, I can do it, too." —Ensign Alfred Neuman, Jr., of San Francisco, Navy fleet forced down in Pacific.

Long before Pearl Harbor our specialists were at work on improvements to gunnery sighting devices. The result is that our aircraft guns are being sighted with the best apparatus in the world. —Maj. Gen. K. B. Wolfe, Wright Field engineering chief.

U. S. SUBS SINK 25 MORE JAP VESSELS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Twenty-five more Japanese vessels, including three combatant ships, have been sunk in Far Eastern waters by United States submarines.

A Navy announcement today said the fighting ships included an escort aircraft carrier, a destroyer, and a large converted cruiser.

Non-combatant vessels included a medium transport, 14 medium cargo vessels, three small cargo vessels, a large cargo transport, two medium cargo transports and a small transport.

The announcement raised to 1,045 the total number of Japanese ships sunk by American submarines since the start of the war. These include 110 combatant and 935 non-combatant craft.

While not confirmed by the Navy, the converted cruiser listed in today's communiqué was believed to be one of the enemy's pre-war 18,000-ton luxury merchant vessels.

Fire Damages Residence On S. Broadway Today

A fire, which started in the basement and climbed to the second story, caused considerable damage at the home of Mike Albrecht, 505 S. Broadway, at 9:38 a. m. today.

Firemen checked the blaze before serious damage could result, but the wall near the chimney was burned. Chief Vincent Malloy said. The fire is believed to have originated in the cellar, where a defective spot in the chimney released the igniting sparks.

Firemen were at the scene for nearly an hour. The home is owned by Steve Fernengel, S. Broadway.

NEW BLOOD DONORS ARE SOUGHT HERE

Registration Underway To Obtain 360 Pints For Monday, Tuesday

The Army-Navy request for five million pints of blood this year will require the cooperation of many additional donors. Red Cross blood donor service officials said today. The service exceeded its quota for the fourth straight year in 1944, procuring 5,371,664 pints of blood for the armed forces.

Drain on supplies is enormous and numerous cases have been reported in which 20 or more pints of plasma have been required to save one man. Approximately 100,000 pints of blood every week must be obtained to keep the armed forces fully supplied.

Registration for the first conditions here this year are being taken at the donor service headquarters, 4500, in the Memorial building from 1 to 9 p. m. every day this week and at 4949 anytime until Sunday night. Donations will be made from 2 to 6 p. m. Monday and 10 to 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Presbyterian church.

Volunteers are urged to register early with the service to facilitate arranging appointments. Housewives and persons not employed are asked to call headquarters now to enable workers to make appointments for others who may have to leave their work to donate.

GRIPSHOLM TO DOCK WITH U. S. VETERANS

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 21.—Many American aviators who were shot down over Germany, infantrymen who were wounded in battle and seamen from torpedoed merchant ships were coming home today after months in German prison camps.

They were due to arrive on the Gripsholm, completing her sixth exchange voyage with 1,396 repatriates including 463 American officers and enlisted men and 42 merchant seamen. Also aboard are 623 civilians and 78 Canadian military personnel.

The soldiers will go directly to Halloran General hospital on Staten Island for physical examinations. Those whose physical condition permits will receive furloughs.

Pvt. Brown, Columbian Paratrooper, Wounded

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brown, 248 S. Elm st., have received word from the War department advising them that their son, Pvt. Fred H. Brown, 22, has been wounded in action in Germany.

Pvt. Brown, a paratrooper, was wounded Feb. 3 and his injuries are to his right arm. He is confined to a hospital in Paris.

A graduate of Columbiana High school in 1940, he went overseas in April, 1944, after a year's training. He made his first jump overseas in Italy, then Sicily and is a veteran of the invasion of southern France.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. — Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's All America fullback, and Halfback Max Minor entered Saturday's National A. A. U. track and field championships, Blanchard in the shot-put and Minor in the broad jump. That probably explains the absence of Notre-Dame entries. If Gaudin Haegs and Hardier Haskon Lidman don't get here for the meet, why not substitute Sharkey, the high-hurdling seal from the National Sportsmen's show, for the latter? He's right down in the Garden basement. . . . Bill Tilden, age 52, calls his old doubles partner, Vinny Richards, 41, "Sonny".

KERR-SE THE LUCK

Andy Kerr, Jr., son of the Colgate football coach, came within four seconds of having a perfect season in his first coaching attempt last fall. . . . Andy, Jr., a doctor attached to a general hospital in England, tutored the 11th Aces, going into the season's fifth and final game against the 307th hospital. . . . Things continued to go well until the last four seconds when one of Andy's boys tried to pass, was rushed, the ball was deflected into the arms of an opposing guard, who ran for a touchdown.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

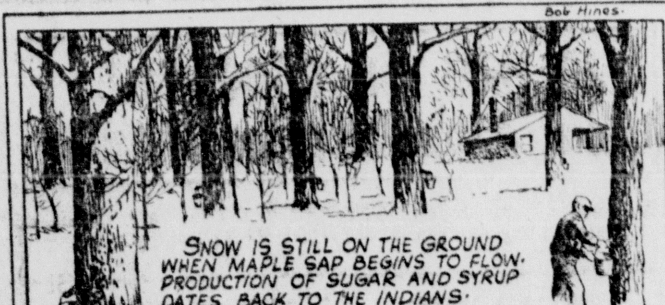

Not-so-fat Freddie Fitzsimmons (he shed 16 pounds during 2½ months overseas) doubts that he can pitch a full nine innings for his Phillies this season but thinks he may work a few games. Prize explanation of the basketball season came when a Canisius player was flattened after a breakaway goal against Syracuse. "He wasn't fouled," an official ruled, "he collapsed from exhaustion."

BEE GEES TOPPLE GREAT LAKES 64-59

Pull Surprise Revenge Win Over Sailors To Step Into National Spot

Bowling Green university got sweet revenge and moved toward the center of the national basketball spotlight last night by defeating Great Lakes Sailors, 64 to 59.

The Bee Gees' season record is now 21 wins and one defeat—an 80 to 57 drubbing by Great Lakes in a previous game.

In other games, the University of Cincinnati trimmed Wayne university of Detroit, 57 to 40; Ashland college whipped Camp Perry Soldiers, 73 to 53, and Capital university downed Lockbourne Army Air base, 51 to 39.

The lead changed 26 times in the bitterly-fought Bowling Green-Great Lakes game. The Sailors held a 31-29 advantage at the intermission. The Bee Gees went ahead to stay, 55 to 54, five minutes before the end of the game. Quick baskets by Wyndol Gray and Don Whitehead and a foul shot by Whitehead gave them a six-point lead which they never relinquished.

Gray High Man

Gray took scoring honors with 22 points, while his teammate, Center Don Otten got 19—five baskets and nine free throws in 11 attempts. Top Sailor was Guard McGuire with 14.

Cincinnati's win over Wayne gave the Bearcats a 500 mark for the season—eight wins and eight losses. Wayne won an early season game between the two schools. Big John Mueller, Cincinnati center, led the scoring with 21 points.

Doc Grover swished 27 points through the nets to spark Ashland to Victory over Camp Perry.

Capital got off to a slow start against the Lockbourne Flyers, trailing 13-16 at the end of the first period, but was ahead 27 to 23, at halftime.

ARAB SOFTBALL IS MERE CHILD'S GAME

(By International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — "Did you ever see an Ay-rab at a softball game?" inquired Staff Sgt. Robert Murphy, Cornwall, N. Y., medic back at the AAF Redistribution station No. 1 after 21 months of overseas service.

"They are as unconcerned as fish in a bowl, but they always show up. Somebody hits a home run, and they don't even bat an eye. Once in a while, we'd hit a foul in among them. One of the Ay-rabs picks up the ball and passes it to another Ay-rab, and the thought seems to pass through their minds that it's an awful hard ball to be fooling with."

"You can almost hear 'em saying: 'These Jews are playing with dynamite. One of these days it's gonna explode and they'll know better.'"

Bowling Officials Announce Winners In Headpin Tourney

WELDAY ADRIAN'S 319 COPS FIRST IN HEADPIN MEET

Helen Caldwell With 315 Takes Women's Prize And Doubles Award

With a score of 319, Welday Adrian won first prize in the benefit headpin tournament in Salem Saturday, officials of the Salem Bowling association announced today.

In the women's division honors went to Helen Caldwell with 315 and Mrs. Caldwell and Tom Reese took first prize in the mixed doubles with 599.

The tourney was held for the benefit of the fund to buy gifts for service men leaving the city. Prize winners and scores in the three divisions were:

Men's division—W. Adrian 319, Tom Reese 318, Dai DeRholes 318, John Galchick 315, Merle Caldwell 311, Chuck Huffer 311, Ralph Hawley 310, Virgil Willis 308, John Galchick 308, George Mitchell 306, Ralph Hawley 305, James Wilson 306, Earl Gray 306, Ed Tresler 306, Merle Caldwell 303.

Women's division—Helen Caldwell 315, Gertrude Vannie 306, Helen Caldwell 300, M. McLaughlin 290, M. Harroff 288, Mae Garlock 284, Twila Myers 279, Gertrude Vannie 275, Louise Tetlow 266, L. Longenecker 265, Tillie Youtz 266, Alice Vanek 266, Louise Tetlow 266, Wilma Stanley 265, Myrtle Hassey 264.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(Doe) Blanchard, Army's All America fullback, and Halfback Max Minor entered Saturday's National A. A. U. track and field championships, Blanchard in the shot-put and Minor in the broad jump. That probably explains the absence of Notre-Dame entries. If Gunder Haegg and Hurdler Haakon Lidman don't get here for the meet, why not substitute Sharkey, the high-hurdling seal from the National Sportsmen's show, for the latter? He's right down in the Garden basement. Bill Tilden, age 52, calls his old doubles partner, Vinny Richards, 41, "Sonny".

KERR-SE THE LUCK

Andy Kerr, Jr., son of the Colgate football coach, came within four seconds of having a perfect season in his first coaching attempt last fall. Andy, Jr., a doctor attached to a general hospital in England, tutored the 11th Aces, who were unbeaten and unscathed going into the season's fifth and final game against the 30th hospital. Things continued to go well until the last four seconds when one of Andy's boys tried to pass, was rushed, the ball was deflected into the arms of an opposing guard, who ran for a touchdown.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Not-so-fat Freddie Fitzsimmons (he shed 16 pounds during 2½ months overseas) doubts that he can pitch a full nine innings for his Phillies this season but thinks he may work a few games.

Prize explanation of the basketball season came when a Canisius player was flattened after a breakaway goal against Syracuse. "He wasn't fouled," an official ruled, "he collapsed from exhaustion."

ARAB SOFTBALL IS MERE CHILD'S GAME

(By International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—"Did you ever see an Arab at a softball game?" inquired Staff Sgt. Robert Murphy, Cornwall, N. Y., medic back at the AAF Redistribution station No. 1 after 21 months of overseas service.

"They are as unconcerned as fish in a bowl, but they always show up. Somebody hits a home run, and they don't even bat an eye. Once in a while, we'd hit a foul in among them. One of the Ay-rabs picks up the ball and passes it to another Ay-rab, and the thought seems to pass through their minds that it's an awful hard ball to be fooling with."

"You can almost hear 'em saying: 'These Joes are playing with dynamite. One of these days it's gonna explode and they'll know better.'"

Murphy was stationed near a little town called Chateau dun de Rhommel, which is not to be confused with the late Nazi tactician. In fact, says Murphy, it isn't to be confused

BUS STRIKES

Strike Hits Portsmouth
Bus service at Portsmouth also was halted today when employees of the Portsmouth City Lines, Inc., left their jobs at 7 a. m.

The action left hundreds of Portsmouth residents without transportation to and from the Wheeling Steel Corp. plant at nearby New Boston just as shifts were changing. Scores of workers were late or failed to report.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employees, in which bus line employees hold membership, could not be reached immediately for comment. The WLB recently turned down a union request for wage increases.

School officials in Portsmouth and New Boston said about one-third of their High school pupils were absent because of lack of bus service.

Frees Bataan

Hero of the Santo Tomas rescue in Manila, Brig. Gen. William C. Chase, above, led the Yank forces who waded ashore on the Bataan peninsula to capture its key harbor and gain partial control of the entrance to Manila bay. Gen. Chase is commander of the First Cavalry division, formerly commanded by Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, the heroic leader of the U. S. forces who were compelled to surrender at Bataan nearly three years ago. (International)

'44 Tax Distribution To Cities and School Districts Is Ordered

County Auditor Irvin J. Vorn-dran has made final distribution of 1944 real estate and inheritance tax revenues and issued an order to Treasurer Edith Dawson to distribute the money to schools and local subdivisions.

The transfer of $623,297.52 in realty taxes brought the '44 total to well over a million and a half dollars. This amount added to the $965,214.58 distributed in October totaled $1,588,512.10 for the year.

This is an increase of $108,072.83 over 1943 when $1,480,439.27 was collected and distributed and substantially more than the $1,397,854.32 garnered in '42.

Inheritance tax figures jumped from $17,677.71 in '43 to $24,388.94 but lagged behind the '42 total of $58,394.05. $11,792.21 of this fund had been transferred in October and the current distribution doled out an additional $12,659.73.

Biggest beneficiary were the schools who received $322,656.07 to add to $501,855.8 allotted them in October. This was a $200,000 jump from '42 when they got $623,157.47, a $100,000 over the '43 figure of $702,467.19.

Salem, Liverpool Highest
East Liverpool schools with $235,608 and Salem with $152,881 led the parade of recipients while Smith township school district trailed with a mere $210.90.

Corporations participated in the division to the tune of $398,692.15 with townships netting $102,037.38. Municipalities were granted an additional $10,514.23 from the inheritance tax collections.

In '43 the municipalities received $387,597.15 as against $374,815.35 in '42.

Townships which had been dealt in for $106,403.09 in 1942 were slightly above the $99,964.99 granted them in '43. Inheritance tax figures boosted them an additional $2,446.23.

Vomdran's office shifted $210,481.83 to the county general fund and the state of Ohio took $156,650 from the realty fund and an additional $10,283.64 in inheritance tax fees.

Plan New Collection
Earmarked for distribution to special funds was $22,249.20 for county bond retirement, $8,718.88 to the county board of health, $323.24 for special county debt, $360.28 for county road debt, $10,160.89 for elections and $941.62 for advertisement of delinquent lands.

Meanwhile, the auditor's office is making up duplicates of the 1945 collection when the treasurer's office expects to begin about April 10. The books are to remain open about a month.

A new custom regarding personal tax collections is being inaugurated whereby those who have paid that tax in previous years will receive blanks for filing the returns in the mail. Failure to receive a blank, however, does not relieve the taxpayer from filing his return if he owes the tax.

15-Year-Old Boy Admits Cleveland Stockyard Fire
CLEVELAND, Feb. 21.—A 15-year-old boy was held today after he admitted to Detective Charles Connors that he started the $100,000 Cleveland Union Stockyards fire which caused the death of two firemen last March.

The youth was ordered placed in an institution for feeble-minded Jan. 6, 1944, but was never committed because of no vacancies, Connors said.

Liverpool Men Wounded
EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 21.—Corp. Harold Palmer, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer, was injured a second time Jan. 7 in Belgium while serving with a field artillery unit.

Sergt. George S. Bush, 31, an infantryman, who recently was awarded the Silver Star, has been wounded in Italy.

PLANES BOMB NAZI HIDEOUT

Hitler's Berchtesgaden Receives Its First Attack Of War

ROME, Feb. 21.—Rocket-firing Thunderbolts of the U. S. 12th air force made the first attack of the war yesterday on Hitler's private city of Berchtesgaden, the mountain hideout in the snow-capped Bavarian Alps, it was announced today.

The planes, from Italian bases, pumped rockets into rail yards, at low levels, ripped rail tracks, cars and locomotives and smashed at other targets in and near Berchtesgaden, which may be the most heavily fortified spot in the Reich. They ran into intense flak and small arms fire.

It was speculated that the surprise strike was directed against the movement of top priority personnel, supplies and Nazi files from Berlin.

Hitler's retreat is at Obersalzberg (Upper Salt mountain) on the edge of Berchtesgaden. The only previous attack on the immediate vicinity (other top Nazi leaders have homes in the area, too) occurred several months ago when a force of American heavies hit Salzburg, Austrian border town just across from Berchtesgaden.

The Thunderbolts knocked out a locomotive and eight rail cars in the attack. At towns nearby they set fire to two passenger trains, destroyed a troop train estimated to have 150 soldiers aboard, and destroyed or damaged nearly 50 rail cars, some loaded with tanks.

There was no indication that Hitler's retreat on Obersalzberg itself was attacked. Presumably Hitler is at Obersalzberg, although there have been no authoritative reports recently on the whereabouts of the Fuehrer.

ALVIS WILL HEAD OHIO BOYS SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21.—Welfare Director Frazier Reams today appointed Major-Inspector Ralph W. Alvis, 40, of the state highway patrol, as acting superintendent of the Lancaster Boys Industrial school.

The appointment followed a request by Gov. Frank J. Lausche for action to reduce the number of escapes from the institution, which approximated 300 last year.

Alvis will succeed O. L. Thomas of Springfield as acting superintendent March 1. Permanent head of the institution is Lt. Col. Harold L. Hays, now in service with the 37th Ohio division in the Pacific theater.

Reams said Alvis will be granted a leave from his patrol duties to take the new post. Alvis is a graduate of the National Police academy of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington. He has been with the highway patrol since 1933.

He captained the West Virginia Wesleyan university football team in 1927, and in 1928 and 1930 played baseball with Ironton, O., and Brooklyn Dodgers teams. He is a native of Sebring, Mahoning county.

Jury Seated In Damage Suit Over Truck Crash

LISBON, Feb. 21.—Ten women and two men were seated on the jury and began trying the case of James Bullock vs. Mike Bezie in common pleas court in Lisbon Tuesday.

The suit developed over an accident which occurred about 300 feet west of West's gas station on Route 7 last year.

The plaintiff claims he was riding in the truck of the defendant and was injured when the defendant negligently drove the truck into a utility pole.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Transference of the main battle to the east side of the Rhine might produce some sensational developments. The great Allied airborne army likely would be brought into action, for instance. Then there's another possibility, if the Germans are able to stand off the Allied advance and hang onto northern Germany. This is an Allied amphibious invasion of the German coast from the North sea—say in the Bremen or Hamburg area. That would be one of the great landing operations of the war, and a tough one. However, it has been amply demonstrated that wis sufficient naval and air support, forces can be put ashore most anywhere.

THE THEATER

"Sunday Dinner For a Soldier," showing at the State Thursday through Saturday, is the first feature on a bill which also offers the dramatic "The Fighting Lady," film story of one of America's mightiest aircraft carriers.

In the main feature are John Hodiak and Anne Baxter as the soldier and the girl whose family "adopted" him for a day. Also in the cast are Anne Revere, Charles Winninger and three youngsters, Connie Marshall, Bobby Driscoll and Billy Cummings.

When the clannish little family group whose only home is a river houseboat takes in a lonely GI for a day, their lives become part of each other. The family's burning desire to have a soldier guest at Sunday dinner like their prosperous neighbors in the village is fulfilled and the soldier is given the opportunity to see family life at its best in grandfather, mother and four children.

The technicolor production of "The Fighting Lady" is the exciting picturization of the exploits of an unnamed carrier in the South Pacific against the Japs. Produced by one of the founders of the March of Time features, the film is the actual experience of pilots and crew of the carrier in action at Marcus, Kwajalein, Truk, Guam and Saipan.

Showing at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday are: "Cyclone Prairie Rangers" with Charles Starrett; and "Night Club Girl" with Vivian Austin and Billy Dunn.

More than 2,000,000 people suffer from hay fever annually in the United States.

CIRCUS OFFICIALS GIVEN JAIL TERMS AS FIRE AFTERMATH

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 21.—Judge William J. Shea today, in Superior court, imposed heavy prison sentences on three officials of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus and sent three other circus men to jail, all for involuntary manslaughter in connection with the circus fire here last July which claimed 168 lives.

Those sentenced were George W. Smith, 51, of Sarasota, Fla., general manager and Leonard S. Ayala, 62, chief tent man of Sarasota, two to seven years in state prison.

James A. Haley, 46-year-old vice president and director, Sarasota, one to five years in state prison.

Edward R. Versteeg, 44, chief electrician, Sarasota, and William Cahey, 35, chief seaman, Sarasota, one year in the county jail.

David W. Blanchfield, 57, chief truckman, Hartford, six months in jail.

Judge Shea fined the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., the official name of the concern, $10,000.

All of the defendants and the corporation itself had pleaded no contest to involuntary manslaughter after and before passing sentence Judge Shea remarked that this was "equivalent to a plea of guilty."

Japanese People Calm, Tokyo Leaders Declare

(By Associated Press)

The Japanese Domei agency said today that four civil administrators told Emperor Hirohito yesterday that "despite air raids, earthquake and a lack of foods, there was no need for concern over public peace and order."

Radio Tokyo today said the commander-in-chief of Iwo Jima has issued an order of the day declaring that "not one Japanese ought to die before he has killed enemy soldiers."

Seems To Make The Years Drop Off

One of the most noticeable sensations that come to people who have long deferred wearing glasses is, that after they have had their eyes properly examined and fitted, the glasses seem to make them feel young again. They take renewed interest in the affairs of life.

This is not only due to the fact that they can see better but also to the fact that the tired and overstrained eye muscles and nerves are given needed relief.

It is often advisable to wear glasses — not necessarily to give clearer vision, but to remove the strain which causes headaches and numerous other nerve troubles.

Frees Bataan

Hero of the Santo Tomas rescue in Manila, Brig. Gen. William C. Chase, above, led the Yank forces who waded ashore on the Bataan peninsula to capture its key harbor and gain partial control of the entrance to Manila bay. Gen. Chase is commander of the First Cavalry division, formerly commanded by Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, the heroic leader of the U. S. forces who were compelled to surrender at Bataan nearly three years ago. (International)

'44 Tax Distribution To Cities and School Districts Is Ordered

County Auditor Irvin J. Vorn-dran has made final distribution of 1944 real estate and inheritance tax revenues and issued an order to Treasurer Edith Dawson to distribute the money to schools and local subdivisions.

The transfer of $623,297.52 in realty taxes brought the '44 total to well over a million and a half dollars. This amount added to the $965,214.58 distributed in October totaled $1,588,512.10 for the year.

This is an increase of $108,072.83 over 1943 when $1,480,439.27 was collected and distributed and substantially more than the $1,397,854.32 garnered in '42.

Inheritance tax figures jumped from $17,677.71 in '43 to $24,388.94 but lagged behind the '42 total of $58,394.05. $11,792.21 of this fund had been transferred in October and the current distribution doled out an additional $12,659.73.

Biggest beneficiary were the schools who received $322,656.07 to add to $501,855.8 allotted them in October. This was a $200,000 jump from '42 when they got $623,157.47, a $100,000 over the '43 figure of $702,467.19.

Salem, Liverpool Highest

East Liverpool schools with $235,608 and Salem with $152,881 led the parade of recipients while Smith township school district trailed with a mere $210.00.

Corporations participated in the division to the tune of $394,692.15 with townships netting $102,037.36. Municipalities were granted an additional $10,514.23 from the inheritance tax collections.

In '43 the municipalities received $387,597.15 as against $374,815.35 in '42.

Townships which had been dealt in for $106,408.09 in 1942 were slightly above the $99,964.99 granted them in '43. Inheritance tax figures jumped from $17,677.71 in '43 to $24,388.94 but lagged behind the '42 total of $58,394.05.

Vorn-dran's office shifted $210,481.83 to the county general fund and the state of Ohio took $1565.60 from the realty fund and an additional $10,283.64 in inheritance tax fees.

Plan New Collection

Earmarked for distribution to special funds was $22,249.20 for county bond retirement, $8,718.88 to the county board of health, $323.24 for special county debt, $360.28 for county road debt, $10,160.89 for elections and $9410.62 for advertisement of delinquent lands.

Meanwhile, the auditor's office is making up duplicates for the 1945 collection which the treasurer's office expects to begin about April 10. The books are to remain open about a month.

A new custom regarding personal tax collections is being inaugurated whereby those who have paid that tax in previous years will receive blanks for filing the returns in the mail. Failure to receive a blank, however, does not relieve the taxpayer from filing his return if he owes the tax.

ended before other communities were affected.

Strike Hits Portsmouth

Bus service at Portsmouth also was halted today when employees of the Portsmouth City Lines, Inc., left their jobs at 7 a. m.

The action left hundreds of Portsmouth residents without transportation to and from the Wheeling Steel Corp. plant at nearby New Boston just as shifts were changing. Scores of workers were late or failed to report.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employees, in which bus line employees hold membership, could not be reached immediately for comment. The WLB recently turned down a union request for wage increases.

School officials in Portsmouth and New Boston said about one-third of their high school pupils were absent because of lack of bus service.

Liverpool Men Wounded

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 21.—Corp. Harold Palmer, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer, was injured a second time Jan. 7 in Belgium while serving with a field artillery unit.

Sgt. George S. Bush, 31, an infantryman, who recently was awarded the Silver Star, has been wounded in Italy.

PLANES BOMB NAZI HIDEOUT

Hitler's Berchtesgaden Receives Its First Attack Of War

ROME, Feb. 21.—Rocket-firing Thunderbolts of the U. S. 12th air force made the first attack of the war yesterday on Hitler's private city of Berchtesgaden, the mountain hideout in the snow-capped Bavarian Alps, it was announced today.

The planes, from Italian bases, pumped rockets into rail yards, at low levels, ripped rail tracks, cars and locomotives and smashed at other targets in and near Berchtesgaden, which may be the most heavily fortified spot in the Reich. They ran into intense flak and small arms fire.

It was speculated that the surprise strike was directed against the movement of top priority personnel, supplies and Nazi files from Berlin.

Hitler's retreat is at Obersalzberg (Upper Salt mountain) on the edge of Berchtesgaden. The only previous attack on the immediate vicinity (other top Nazi leaders have homes in the area, too) occurred several months ago when a force of American heavies hit Salzburg, Austrian border town just across from Berchtesgaden.

The Thunderbolts knocked out a locomotive and eight rail cars in the attack. At towns nearby they set fire to two passenger trains, destroyed a troop train estimated to have 150 soldiers aboard, and destroyed or damaged nearly 50 rail cars, some loaded with tanks.

(There was no indication that Hitler's retreat on Obersalzberg itself was attacked. Presumably Hitler is at Obersalzberg, although there have been no authoritative reports recently on the whereabouts of the Fuehrer.)

ALVIS WILL HEAD OHIO BOYS SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21.—Welfare Director Frazier Reams today appointed Major-Inspector Ralph W. Alvis, 40, of the state highway patrol, as acting superintendent of the Lancaster Boys Industrial school.

The appointment followed a request by Gov. Frank J. Lausche for action to reduce the number of escapes from the institution, which approximated 300 last year.

Alvis will succeed O. L. Thomas of Springfield as acting superintendent March 1. Permanent head of the institution is Lt. Col. Harold L. Hays, now in service with the 37th Ohio division in the Pacific theater.

Reams said Alvis will be granted a leave from his patrol duties to take the new post. Alvis is a graduate of the National Police academy of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington. He has been with the highway patrol since 1933.

He captained the West Virginia Wesleyan university football team in 1927, and in 1928 and 1930 played basketball with Tronton, O., and Brooklyn Dodgers teams. He is a native of Sebring, Mahoning county.

Jury Seated In Damage Suit Over Truck Crash

LISBON, Feb. 21.—Ten women and two men were seated on the jury and began trying the case of James Bullock vs. Mike Bezie in common pleas court in Lisbon Tuesday.

The suit developed over an accident which occurred about 300 feet west of West's gas station on Route 7 last year.

The plaintiff claims he was riding in the truck of the defendant and was injured when the defendant negligently drove the truck into a utility pole.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Transference of the main battle to the east side of the Rhine might produce some sensational developments. The great Allied airborne army likely would be brought into action, for instance. Then there's another possibility, if the Germans are able to stand off the Allied advance and hang onto northern Germany. This is an Allied amphibious invasion of the German coast from the North sea—say in the Bremen or Hamburg area. That would be one of the great landing operations of the war, and a tough one. However, it has been amply demonstrated that his sufficient naval and air support, forces can be put ashore most anywhere.

"Sunday Dinner For a Soldier," showing at the State Thursday through Saturday, is the first feature on a bill which also offers the dramatic "The Fighting Lady," film story of one of America's mightiest aircraft carriers.

In the main feature are John Hodiak and Anne Baxter as the soldier and the girl whose family "adopted" him for a day. Also in the cast are Anne Revere, Charles Winninger and three youngsters, Corrie Marshall, Bobby Driscoll and Billy Cummings.

When the clannish little family group whose only home is a river houseboat takes in a lonely GI for a day, their lives become part of each others. The family's burning desire to have a soldier guest at Sunday dinner like their prosperous neighbors in the village is fulfilled and the soldier is given the opportunity to see family life at its best in grandfather, mother and four children.

The technicolor production of "The Fighting Lady" is the exciting picturization of the exploits of an unnamed carrier in the South Pacific against the Japs. Produced by one of the founders of the March of Time features, the film is the actual experience of pilots and crew of the carrier in action at Marcus, Kwajalein, Truk, Guam and Saipan.
